

And then we look at
learning styles:

Visual

Auditory

Kinesthetic

And this is why
we are here today!

But there exists a singular great solution!

And before I forget it . . .
let's talk a bit about PowerPoint

Our job as safety trainers is pretty straight forward . . .

Our job is to simply answer the question that is on everybody's mind . . .

WHY? Why? Why? Why?

This is our responsibility!

How many of you love . . .
I mean ABSOLUTELY LOVE . . . providing safety training?

And if you didn't raise your hand,
let's see if we can find a way to change that!
Isn't that why we're here today?

Fun learning . . . That's the answer we are after!

Answers they will remember tomorrow,
next week, and next year!

Very few firm and fast rules exist.
However, we are in fact safety folks,
so . . . we must have a few

Mark's Rules

1. Practice does indeed make perfect . . .
or at least good enough.
2. Things will not always go as planned,
so deal with it!
3. Safety, safety, safety.
4. Provide ponchos when necessary.

Win a Major Prize!

A Material Safety Data Sheet for Beer?

Are you serious??

Nope. Sorry.

Even better . . . a Safety Data Sheet for Beer!

Cost? One Evaluation. Non-negotiable.

The question of the day:

If you charged admission to attend your safety training . . .

Sure you can fly — and you can build your own Bensen, too!

Feel as free as a bird, buzzing around in your sporty Bensen Gyrocopter. Keep it in your garage, fly when you like! Others like you, from Alaska to New Zealand, have caught up with the air age by building and flying a Gyroglider or Gyrocopter, with wheels or floats (interchangeable). Costs no more to operate than a car. Takes off and lands in a lot less space than a plane. ¶Pro's call it "the greatest thrill in flying". A typical enthusiast says "Before I got interested in gyros I knew practically nothing about machines or flying. I can safely say now that anybody can fly if they really want to". Safe? An Air Force Captain reported: "The simple construction and the autorotation feature undoubtedly make this one of the safest aircraft in the air today." Will glide safely if the engine quits. ¶You can enjoy the zestful relaxation of flying high and fast—or low and slow, as you wish—in your private Bensen. Designed by aeronautical engineers for building with ordinary hobbyshop tools. Construction plans (with flying instructions) and factory prepared kits available. Make your first move now—send the coupon today with just $3 or $2.

SEND $3 FOR 3-VIEW DRAWINGS, SPECS, KIT DATA
AND PHOTO OF GYROCOPTER—$2 FOR GYROGLIDER
